

THE CHINOOK ADVANCE

Vol. 22

Chinook, Alberta. Thursday January 15th 1942

Wheat Price Ceiling Of $1.26 Urged By Line Elevators

THE NORTH-WEST LINE ELEVATORS ASSOCIATION has submitted a further memorandum to Ottawa urging that, special consideration be given the disabilities under which the wheat farmer is operating in any action taken by the Government in fixing a ceiling price for wheat.

THE LINE ELEVATORS are urging the Government to set the ceiling price for Western wheat at not less than $1.26 per bushel basis. One Northern delivered Montreal in conformity with the price ceiling set on Ontario wheat. This would make the ceiling price at Fort William and Vancouver a minimum of approximately $1.15 per bushel.

ANY farmer wishing to secure a copy of the submission of the Line Elevators Association on this subject may obtain one from any Line Elevator Agent.

LINE ELEVATOR ASSOCIATION

Mrs. Ray Youngren of the Kimundy district is visiting this week at the home of Mrs. Clarence Seeger.

Public Notice

The Annual Meeting of the ratepayers of Chinook Consolidated S. D. No. 16 will be held in the School on Saturday, January 31st at 1:30 p.m. for the purpose of hearing and discussing the reports for the year and for electing trustees for the ensuing year.

Signed:
Lorne Proudfoot
Secretary

Mr. C. E. Neff was a Chinook visitor last week. Although Mr. Neff has not lived here for a number of years, he is still interested, and never forgets to renew his subscription to the Advance.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Bowman, Chas. and Clarence Bowman and Mrs. Auld and baby all of Youngstown were town visitors on Tuesday.

Mr. W. H. Davis left on Monday for Calgary where he will visit for time.

ANNUAL MEETING OF CHINOOK U. F. A.

LOCAL HELD

The annual meeting of the Chinook U. F. A. Social was held in the dining-room of the Hotel on Friday, January 9th with twenty-eight present. The first order of business was dinner for all. Then followed a report of the Co-operative and other activities of the Local. This report showed a very successful year in the handling of coal, wood, posts, oil and other commodities. The Local has now fifty-one members. All membership fees have been paid by dividends accruing on their purchases of the commodities mentioned. In addition $136.03 of extra dividends are now being paid through the Garage to these members. All the while the aim of the organization has been to keep the prices of these commodities as low as possible and in this way render a worth while service to the people of the district.

The agent, Mr. Wanner, was instructed to collect the accounts owing for coal and other things handled by him, and the Secretary was requested to purchase more war bonds with the reserves of the association.

R. J. Marr was re-elected as President and Lorne Proudfoot as Secretary and Trustee and W. Gingles, delegate to the Convention to be held in Edmonton next week.

Sees Land Boom

Following War

CRESTON, 12—"All eyes will be turned towards Canada in the next few years, and there will be exceptional opportunities for men who own property to dispose of it at a profit," Hon. K. C. Macdonald, B.C. minister of agriculture, told directors of the North Okanagan Creamery Association at a recent meeting.

He warned against any attempt to exaggerate values of land, however, so that purchases would be unable to make a fair return on their investments.

"If there is no inflation, no land boom, British Columbia will come into her own, and the valley land especially will be in demand."

The Ladies Card Club met on Tuesday of last week with Mrs. A. S. Nicholson as hostess. The honors were shared by Mrs. Pfeiffer and Miss F. Barros.

The Ladies Card Club met this week with Mrs. Pfeiffer as hostess. The honors were shared by Miss McDonald and Mrs. Lee. The club will meet with Mrs. Peyton next week.

Week End Specials

Jiff Soap Flakes	pkt	25c
Jewel Shortening	5 lbs.	95c
Aylmer Tomatoes, 2's, 5 tins		70c
Libby's Sauerkraut	tin	19c
Broder's Pumpkin	16 oz. tins	11c
Ontario White Beans	2 lbs.	15c
Lynn Valley Apricots	tins	17c
Jewel Salad Dressing	In Tumblea	17c
Fresh Eggs and Butter

Coleman and Alladin Mantles
Generators, Burners, Lampwick
Hockey Sticks, Goal Sticks
Pucks
Kerosene, Gases, Oils, Greases

BANNER HARDWARE AND GROCERY

I. H. C. & John Deere

IMPLEMENTS and REPAIRS

Maple Leaf FUELS, Oils & Greases

ELECTRIC & ACETYLENE Welding

FARM SUPPLIES

COOLEY BROS.

Chinook, Alta.

Phone 10

Chinook Meat Market

Fresh & Cured Meats and Fish
Swifts and Burns well known brands of Hams and Bacons

Bring in your Horse Hair And HIDES

Hog and Poultry Supplement for better Production

We are buyers of Poultry at Market Prices.

Phone No. 4

J. C. Bayley Prop.

FOR COLLECTION—TELEPHONE

10-R2

DON'T THROW IT AWAY

THROW IT AT HITLER!

Department of National War Services

Ottawa

Honorable J. T. Thomson Minister

Is Your Liver Poisoning You?

Are you sick and tired out every morning—always constipated—can't eat without pain and distress? Your liver is poisoning your system—permanent results can be the result.

Your liver is the largest gland in the body and most important to your health. It supplies energy to muscles, tissues and glands. When healthy, your body feels this energy and becomes more active. When it is not healthy, again your liver pours out bile to digest food, get rid of waste and allow proper nutrition to take place. When it is not healthy, it gets out of order proper digestion and nourishment stops—you're poisoned with the waste that your body cannot use. This causes all sorts of troubles and rheumatic pains arise from this poison. You become constipated, stomach and kidneys become sluggish, the entire body system is affected and you feel "rotten" headache, backache, dizzy, tired out—a ready prey for disease.

Thousands of people are never sick, and have won prompt relief from these miseries with "FRUIT-A-TIVES" and Postum. The liver is toned up, the other organs function normally and lasting good health results. Take one spoonful of Postum each day and the largest selling liver tablets. They must be good! Try them yourself NOW. Let "Fruit-a-tives" put you back on the road to lasting health—feel like a new person. 25c. 30c.

"I'll die if I always feel now."

"Run Down For Years, Her Perfect Health!"

I was badly run down and terribly fatigued. My digestion was poor and I was easily fatigued. "Fruit-a-tives" soon relieved me of my trouble and there is no better medicine for me. I am now in perfect health, making you feel well again. I am full of new pep and energy. After taking "Fruit-a-tives" I feel fine.

Mrs. Roy Dagnon, Chatham, Ont.

"ALL THAT GLITTERS"

By —

ANNE TEDLOCK BROOKS

What has gone before: Now that gold has been discovered in paying quantities on the Randolph plantation, Tammy and Dick are concerned about their future. Tamar and her father will not give up their proper share under the terms of the contract with Major Towne. They plan to have the contract broken. Tammy and Dick are to be the love of Tam and want to help her. Tamar resents the activity of Tammy, still considering him in the light of a young boy playmate. On the way to a night club, Tamar's mind suddenly reverts to Christopher Sande, the newcomer to the community.

CHAPTER IV.

Tammy knew that Ransome Todd was having a miserable evening. As it lengthened, she sparkled more. Dick Sheridan studied her curiously across the table.

Selby, his sister, seemed ill at ease, as though she knew that something was wrong, but could not diagnose it. Since it was her escort at whom most of Tamar's remarks seemed directed, she pondered it quietly.

Tamar looked about the room, remembering that it had been only a year ago that she and Raan had spent the summer having fun in just such a place as the Roslant. The orchestra began playing "Only Forever," and Tamar suddenly felt like crying.

"I've always prided myself upon being a lady, she told herself gently, and I slapped Rauny's face this afternoon. He had it coming to him in her voice refuted. Didn't he kiss you? Who wouldn't? Ransome Todd kiss you? I've known him for 20 years. And played together most of them. Yes, but he called Dad a fool! Are you certain that he wasn't right? She felt the battle going on within her. Was Rauny right? Weren't they a bit hasty in grabbing up the Major's offer to lease the Cricket Hill Mine?

"It would be lots of fun, wouldn't it, Tam?" Selby asked, touching her hand. "Oh, yes, of course!" Tam agreed hastily.

"What time can you go?"

Tamar looked at them helplessly. "Let's arrange that later; how about this dance, Richard?"

She asked into his shoulder a moment later. "I hadn't heard a word. What does Selby have planned?"

Dick answered her quietly: "I knew that you were not listening. Selby wants the four of us to go to Churchill Downs next week. Want to go?"

"I'm not sure, Dick. Let's wait and see. The rest of you can go on, though."

Dick Sheridan was blessed with relieves gas pressure, but you won't sit up straighter. It helps you, due to occasional constipation, cause restless nights, get ADLERIAK; its 5 cinnamates and 3 laxatives are just right for those lazy bowels. Get ADLERIAK today.

SITTING UP IN BED

At Your Drug Store.

* A 10c PACKAGE GIVES YOU MORE SMOKES.
DAILY MAIL Cigarette Tobacco
18 FOR 25c.

to lease the mine for a certain amount. He couldn't go back on his word."

"That's all very true, Tamar. No Randolph would ever go back on his word, whether it was written or spoken. Your father wasn't at all in favor of the change ethically."

"And what about Major Towne?" "They have gentlemen in the East, Tam. And the old Major is so delighted with his strike that he was in a very pleasant mood. The contracts have not been signed yet, but they should be tomorrow."

Just then Selby and Ransome returned to the table.

Ransome carefully seated Selby. He said something to her in a low tone, and Tamar avoided his eyes. How could she let him keep on thinking she was angry about this afternoon? She wanted to hear more from Dick, but did not like to discuss it before these two.

Ransome did not take his seat. He came on around the table. "May I have this dance, Miss Randolph?" he asked with his best dancing-school manners.

She rose slowly from her chair, Ransome held out his arms, and they were guiding down the floor.

He held her carefully, stiffly, and they danced the length of the floor silently. With a sigh Tamar shrugged herself deeper into his arms. She smiled up at him, dazzling. "You don't want me to break you down?"

"I grinned boishly, and pressed her closer. "Tam!" he whispered. He wondered fervently what had made this sudden change in her, and thought that Dick must have told her about the contracts. He shrugged his shoulders. Women were the most unpredictable creatures living. Women and horses are a lot alike. Have to keep handling them with the greatest of care. He thought of Tahlahneka II, and wondered idly whether the ron should obtrude himself in this thoughts just at that moment. I struck him with a crop, he told himself. And threw it away.

"Ran, I'm sorry about this afternoon," Tamara's soft voice was white, perking low that he had to bend his head to hear.

"I'm sorry that I'm not very tactful, Tam." I'm not sorry I kissed you though, he thought to himself. For if I'd not kissed you, I probably wouldn't know yet that I'm in love with you. And while it's been a miserable feeling so far, maybe it won't always be.

"Let's forget about this afternoon. Look at that moonlight, Tam. They were dancing straight toward the open door. It hadn't been 10 minutes before that she squelched Dick's romantic words.

"I'd like to dance you straight down that white path to the river."

Tam's laughter pealed out. Ransome scowled. "I could shake you, Tam, for that."

"Oh, don't take it that way, Ran. Those were almost Dick's identical words."

Ranny's scowl deepened. He felt like groaning. He supposed that to Tam he seemed the most unromantic figure in the country. That's because they had played together so much. Would Tam ever be able to forget their companionship basis? He didn't want to be a companion to her now.

He dauced her straight through the open door. On the verandah he dropped his arm and tucked her hand through it.

"You can see that, although Dick and I might talk the same language, we're not really alike, Tamar."

"No," she said, "you're not really alike." She trembled and felt Ranny's arm slip about her shoulder.

"I have something I want to ask you," he said with determination, pausing at the river's edge.

(To Be Continued)

His Favorite Hymn

Honor Memory Of Soldier At Y.M.C.A. Hut In Scotland

A young British soldier among the many who met a hero's death on the beach of Dunkirk has his memory kept green at a Y.M.C.A. hut in Scotland, in whose activities he participated enthusiastically while stationed nearby. All functions of that hut close with the singing of two verses of "Abide With Me," the youth's favorite hymn.

The explanation of the custom goes back to a letter received by the supervisor of the hut from the soldier, in which he asked that the hut, at a certain hour and day, to "sing my old favorite 'Abide With Me.' I'll be thinking of you while you're doing it." The day and time had specified came and the hymn was sung, and across the North Sea at that hour British troops were fighting and dying and winning immortal glory at Dunkirk. He was one of those who never left that beach.

Dick saw the smile hovering about her red lips. He went on: "Ran gave me the courage to try to see that your father got a just deal on the mine. Of course, we do need waking up, some of us. Ranny's a business man. Has a business head on those wide shoulders. He knows about gold in terms of dollars and cents, and he's responsible for getting me to rewrite the contracts. I simply talked to Major Towne and to your father."

"But, Dick, wasn't the Major done under? After all, Dad agreed to lease the mine for a certain amount. He couldn't go back on his word."

"That's all very true, Tamar. No Randolph would ever go back on his word, whether it was written or spoken. Your father wasn't at all in favor of the change ethically."

"And what about Major Towne?" "They have gentlemen in the East, Tam. And the old Major is so delighted with his strike that he was in a very pleasant mood. The contracts have not been signed yet, but they should be tomorrow."

Just then Selby and Ransome returned to the table.

Ransome carefully seated Selby. He said something to her in a low tone, and Tamar avoided his eyes. How could she let him keep on thinking she was angry about this afternoon? She wanted to hear more from Dick, but did not like to discuss it before these two.

Ransome did not take his seat. He came on around the table. "May I have this dance, Miss Randolph?" he asked with his best dancing-school manners.

She rose slowly from her chair, Ransome held out his arms, and they were guiding down the floor.

He held her carefully, stiffly, and they danced the length of the floor silently. With a sigh Tamar shrugged herself deeper into his arms. She smiled up at him, dazzling. "You don't want me to break you down?"

"I grinned boishly, and pressed her closer. "Tam!" he whispered. He wondered fervently what had made this sudden change in her, and thought that Dick must have told her about the contracts. He shrugged his shoulders. Women were the most unpredictable creatures living. Women and horses are a lot alike. Have to keep handling them with the greatest of care. He thought of Tahlahneka II, and wondered idly whether the ron should obtrude himself in this thoughts just at that moment. I struck him with a crop, he told himself. And threw it away.

"Ran, I'm sorry about this afternoon," Tamara's soft voice was white, perking low that he had to bend his head to hear.

"I'm sorry that I'm not very tactful, Tam." I'm not sorry I kissed you though, he thought to himself. For if I'd not kissed you, I probably wouldn't know yet that I'm in love with you. And while it's been a miserable feeling so far, maybe it won't always be.

"Let's forget about this afternoon. Look at that moonlight, Tam. They were dancing straight toward the open door. It hadn't been 10 minutes before that she squelched Dick's romantic words.

"I'd like to dance you straight down that white path to the river."

Tam's laughter pealed out. Ransome scowled. "I could shake you, Tam, for that."

"Oh, don't take it that way, Ran. Those were almost Dick's identical words."

Ranny's scowl deepened. He felt like groaning. He supposed that to Tam he seemed the most unromantic figure in the country. That's because they had played together so much. Would Tam ever be able to forget their companionship basis? He didn't want to be a companion to her now.

He dauced her straight through the open door. On the verandah he dropped his arm and tucked her hand through it.

"You can see that, although Dick and I might talk the same language, we're not really alike, Tamar."

"No," she said, "you're not really alike." She trembled and felt Ranny's arm slip about her shoulder.

"I have something I want to ask you," he said with determination, pausing at the river's edge.

(To Be Continued)

His Favorite Hymn

Honor Memory Of Soldier At Y.M.C.A. Hut In Scotland

A young British soldier among the many who met a hero's death on the beach of Dunkirk has his memory kept green at a Y.M.C.A. hut in Scotland, in whose activities he participated enthusiastically while stationed nearby. All functions of that hut close with the singing of two verses of "Abide With Me," the youth's favorite hymn.

The explanation of the custom goes back to a letter received by the supervisor of the hut from the soldier, in which he asked that the hut, at a certain hour and day, to "sing my old favorite 'Abide With Me.' I'll be thinking of you while you're doing it." The day and time had specified came and the hymn was sung, and across the North Sea at that hour British troops were fighting and dying and winning immortal glory at Dunkirk. He was one of those who never left that beach.

Dick saw the smile hovering about her red lips. He went on: "Ran gave me the courage to try to see that your father got a just deal on the mine. Of course, we do need waking up, some of us. Ranny's a business man. Has a business head on those wide shoulders. He knows about gold in terms of dollars and cents, and he's responsible for getting me to rewrite the contracts. I simply talked to Major Towne and to your father."

"But, Dick, wasn't the Major done under? After all, Dad agreed to lease the mine for a certain amount. He couldn't go back on his word."

"That's all very true, Tamar. No Randolph would ever go back on his word, whether it was written or spoken. Your father wasn't at all in favor of the change ethically."

"And what about Major Towne?" "They have gentlemen in the East, Tam. And the old Major is so delighted with his strike that he was in a very pleasant mood. The contracts have not been signed yet, but they should be tomorrow."

Just then Selby and Ransome returned to the table.

Ransome carefully seated Selby. He said something to her in a low tone, and Tamar avoided his eyes. How could she let him keep on thinking she was angry about this afternoon? She wanted to hear more from Dick, but did not like to discuss it before these two.

Ransome did not take his seat. He came on around the table. "May I have this dance, Miss Randolph?" he asked with his best dancing-school manners.

She rose slowly from her chair, Ransome held out his arms, and they were guiding down the floor.

He held her carefully, stiffly, and they danced the length of the floor silently. With a sigh Tamar shrugged herself deeper into his arms. She smiled up at him, dazzling. "You don't want me to break you down?"

"I grinned boishly, and pressed her closer. "Tam!" he whispered. He wondered fervently what had made this sudden change in her, and thought that Dick must have told her about the contracts. He shrugged his shoulders. Women were the most unpredictable creatures living. Women and horses are a lot alike. Have to keep handling them with the greatest of care. He thought of Tahlahneka II, and wondered idly whether the ron should obtrude himself in this thoughts just at that moment. I struck him with a crop, he told himself. And threw it away.

"Ran, I'm sorry about this afternoon," Tamara's soft voice was white, perking low that he had to bend his head to hear.

"I'm sorry that I'm not very tactful, Tam." I'm not sorry I kissed you though, he thought to himself. For if I'd not kissed you, I probably wouldn't know yet that I'm in love with you. And while it's been a miserable feeling so far, maybe it won't always be.

"Let's forget about this afternoon. Look at that moonlight, Tam. They were dancing straight toward the open door. It hadn't been 10 minutes before that she squelched Dick's romantic words.

"I'd like to dance you straight down that white path to the river."

Tam's laughter pealed out. Ransome scowled. "I could shake you, Tam, for that."

"Oh, don't take it that way, Ran. Those were almost Dick's identical words."

Ranny's scowl deepened. He felt like groaning. He supposed that to Tam he seemed the most unromantic figure in the country. That's because they had played together so much. Would Tam ever be able to forget their companionship basis? He didn't want to be a companion to her now.

He dauced her straight through the open door. On the verandah he dropped his arm and tucked her hand through it.

"You can see that, although Dick and I might talk the same language, we're not really alike, Tamar."

"No," she said, "you're not really alike." She trembled and felt Ranny's arm slip about her shoulder.

"I have something I want to ask you," he said with determination, pausing at the river's edge.

(To Be Continued)

His Favorite Hymn

Honor Memory Of Soldier At Y.M.C.A. Hut In Scotland

A young British soldier among the many who met a hero's death on the beach of Dunkirk has his memory kept green at a Y.M.C.A. hut in Scotland, in whose activities he participated enthusiastically while stationed nearby. All functions of that hut close with the singing of two verses of "Abide With Me," the youth's favorite hymn.

The explanation of the custom goes back to a letter received by the supervisor of the hut from the soldier, in which he asked that the hut, at a certain hour and day, to "sing my old favorite 'Abide With Me.' I'll be thinking of you while you're doing it." The day and time had specified came and the hymn was sung, and across the North Sea at that hour British troops were fighting and dying and winning immortal glory at Dunkirk. He was one of those who never left that beach.

Dick saw the smile hovering about her red lips. He went on: "Ran gave me the courage to try to see that your father got a just deal on the mine. Of course, we do need waking up, some of us. Ranny's a business man. Has a business head on those wide shoulders. He knows about gold in terms of dollars and cents, and he's responsible for getting me to rewrite the contracts. I simply talked to Major Towne and to your father."

"But, Dick, wasn't the Major done under? After all, Dad agreed to lease the mine for a certain amount. He couldn't go back on his word."

"That's all very true, Tamar. No Randolph would ever go back on his word, whether it was written or spoken. Your father wasn't at all in favor of the change ethically."

"And what about Major Towne?" "They have gentlemen in the East, Tam. And the old Major is so delighted with his strike that he was in a very pleasant mood. The contracts have not been signed yet, but they should be tomorrow."

Just then Selby and Ransome returned to the table.

Ransome carefully seated Selby. He said something to her in a low tone, and Tamar avoided his eyes. How could she let him keep on thinking she was angry about this afternoon? She wanted to hear more from Dick, but did not like to discuss it before these two.

Ransome did not take his seat. He came on around the table. "May I have this dance, Miss Randolph?" he asked with his best dancing-school manners.

She rose slowly from her chair, Ransome held out his arms, and they were guiding down the floor.

He held her carefully, stiffly, and they danced the length of the floor silently. With a sigh Tamar shrugged herself deeper into his arms. She smiled up at him, dazzling. "You don't want me to break you down?"

"I grinned boishly, and pressed her closer. "Tam!" he whispered. He wondered fervently what had made this sudden change in her, and thought that Dick must have told her about the contracts. He shrugged his shoulders. Women were the most unpredictable creatures living. Women and horses are a lot alike. Have to keep handling them with the greatest of care. He thought of Tahlahneka II, and wondered idly whether the ron should obtrude himself in this thoughts just at that moment. I struck him with a crop, he told himself. And threw it away.

"Ran, I'm sorry about this afternoon," Tamara's soft voice was white, perking low that he had to bend his head to hear.

"I'm sorry that I'm not very tactful, Tam." I'm not sorry I kissed you though, he thought to himself. For if I'd not kissed you, I probably wouldn't know yet that I'm in love with you. And while it's been a miserable feeling so far, maybe it won't always be.

"Let's forget about this afternoon. Look at that moonlight, Tam. They were dancing straight toward the open door. It hadn't been 10 minutes before that she squelched Dick's romantic words.

"I'd like to dance you straight down that white path to the river."

Tam's laughter pealed out. Ransome scowled. "I could shake you, Tam, for that."

"Oh, don't take it that way, Ran. Those were almost Dick's identical words."

Ranny's scowl deepened. He felt like groaning. He supposed that to Tam he seemed the most unromantic figure in the country. That's because they had played together so much. Would Tam ever be able to forget their companionship basis? He didn't want to be a companion to her now.

He dauced her straight through the open door. On the verandah he dropped his arm and tucked her hand through it.

"You can see that, although Dick and I might talk the same language, we're not really alike, Tamar."

"No," she said, "you're not really alike." She trembled and felt Ranny's arm slip about her shoulder.

"I have something I want to ask you," he said with determination, pausing at the river's edge.

(To Be Continued)

His Favorite Hymn

Honor Memory Of Soldier At Y.M.C.A. Hut In Scotland

A young British soldier among the many who met a hero's death on the beach of Dunkirk has his memory kept green at a Y.M.C.A. hut in Scotland, in whose activities he participated enthusiastically while stationed nearby. All functions of that hut close with the singing of two verses of "Abide With Me," the youth's favorite hymn.

The explanation of the custom goes back to a letter received by the supervisor of the hut from the soldier, in which he asked that the hut, at a certain hour and day, to "sing my old favorite 'Abide With Me.' I'll be thinking of you while you're doing it." The day and time had specified came and the hymn was sung, and across the North Sea at that hour British troops were fighting and dying and winning immortal glory at Dunkirk. He was one of those who never left that beach.

Dick saw the smile hovering about her red lips. He went on: "Ran gave me the courage to try to see that your father got a just deal on the mine. Of course, we do need waking up, some of us. Ranny's a business man. Has a business head on those wide shoulders. He knows about gold in terms of dollars and cents, and he's responsible for getting me to rewrite the contracts. I simply talked to Major Towne and to your father."

"But, Dick, wasn't the Major done under? After all, Dad agreed to lease the mine for a certain amount. He couldn't go back on his word."

"That's all very true, Tamar. No Randolph would ever go back on his word, whether it was written or spoken. Your father wasn't at all in favor of the change ethically."

"And what about Major Towne?" "They have gentlemen in the East, Tam. And the old Major is so delighted with his strike that he was in a very pleasant mood. The contracts have not been signed yet, but they should be tomorrow."

Just then Selby and Ransome returned to the table.

Ransome carefully seated Selby. He said something to her in a low tone, and Tamar avoided his eyes. How could she let him keep on thinking she was angry about this afternoon? She wanted to hear more from Dick, but did not like to discuss it before these two.

Ransome did not take his seat. He came on around the table. "May I have this dance, Miss Randolph?" he asked with his best dancing-school manners.

She rose slowly from her chair, Ransome held out his arms, and they were guiding down the floor.

He held her carefully, stiffly, and they danced the length of the floor silently. With a sigh Tamar shrugged herself deeper into his arms. She smiled up at him, dazzling. "You don't want me to break you down?"

"I grinned boishly, and pressed her closer. "Tam!" he whispered. He wondered fervently what had made this sudden change in her, and thought that Dick must have told her about the contracts. He shrugged his shoulders. Women were the most unpredictable creatures living. Women and horses are a lot alike. Have to keep handling them with the greatest of care. He thought of Tahlahneka II, and wondered idly whether the ron should obtrude himself in this thoughts just at that moment. I struck him with a crop, he told himself. And threw it away.

"Ran, I'm sorry about this afternoon," Tamara's soft voice was white, perking low that he had to bend his head to hear.

"I'm sorry that I'm not very tactful, Tam." I'm not sorry I kissed you though, he thought to himself. For if I'd not kissed you, I probably wouldn't know yet that I'm in love with you. And while it's been a miserable feeling so far, maybe it won't always be.

"Let's forget about this afternoon. Look at that moonlight, Tam. They were dancing straight toward the open door. It hadn't been 10 minutes before that she squelched Dick's romantic words.

"I'd like to dance you straight down that white path to the river."

Tam's laughter pealed out. Ransome scowled. "I could shake you, Tam, for that."

"Oh, don't take it that way, Ran. Those were almost Dick's identical words."

Ranny's scowl deepened. He felt like groaning. He supposed that to Tam he seemed the most unromantic figure in the country. That's because they had played together so much. Would Tam ever be able to forget their companionship basis? He didn't want to be a companion to her now.

He dauced her straight through the open door. On the verandah he dropped his arm and tucked her hand through it.

"You can see that, although Dick and I might talk the same language, we're not really alike, Tamar."

"No," she said, "you're not really alike." She trembled and felt Ranny's arm slip about her shoulder.

"I have something I want to ask you," he said with determination, pausing at the river's edge.

(To Be Continued)

His Favorite Hymn

Honor Memory Of Soldier At Y.M.C.A. Hut In Scotland

A young British soldier among the many who met a hero's death on the beach of Dunkirk has his memory kept green at a Y.M.C.A. hut in Scotland, in whose activities he participated enthusiastically while stationed nearby. All functions of that hut close with the singing of two verses of "Abide With Me," the youth's favorite hymn.

CHINOOK UNITED CHURCH

CHURCH Service 11:45 a.m.
Sunday School 10:30 a.m.
All are cordially invited to attend.

ANSWER
THE CALL
ENLIST AT ONCE!

RESTAURANT

Meals at all hours
FRESH OYSTERS
All Kinds Tobacco and Cigarettes
SOFT DRINKS and Confectionary
ICE CREAM
Mah Bros

For DRAVING Or TRUCKING Any Kind Satisfaction Guaranteed

ROBINSON CARTAGE

GOVERNMENT OF THE PROVINCE OF ALBERTA
DEPARTMENT OF LANDS AND MINES
SPECIAL AREAS and SPECIAL DISTRICTS
Cash Statement for the Fiscal Year 1940-1941.
(Ending March 31, 1941)

Cash on Hand March 31, 1940 and Revenue for Year 1940-41.
Cash in Bank March 31, 1940 - Special	$ 45,900.40
Districts Trust Account
Funds transferred from Department Municipal	380.12
Affairs from Improvement Districts Trust Account
Credits of old Municipal Districts with Land	108.88
Taxes Office and Workman's Compensation Board
Special District Collections
General Tax	$347,380.52
Social Service Taxes	53,715.87
Interest Collections on Agricultural Advances	10,743.78
Miscellaneous
Road Maintenance Applied on Taxes	1,627.25
Road Maintenance Applied on Relief	12,902.71
All Collections from Public Lands in the Special Areas	55,190.65
Title to which has been revested in the Crown through Tax Recovery Proceedings
Special Districts Share of Taxing Collections from Crown Lands in the Special Areas	1,661.69
Special Districts Share of Crop collected from Crown Lands in the Special Areas	1,244.30
Bank Interest	182.29	495,194.75
Government Contributions		$531,592.85
Cash in Bank March 31, 1940 - Special Areas	112,796.73
Trust Account
1941 Special Areas Collections on Provincial Lands	48,651.76
Department of Education Special Grant	100,000.00
Appropriation # 1134	69,375.36
Appropriation # 1161	23,456.06
Total		885,855.46

Payments
Special Districts
Social Service Taxes	53,715.87
Schools	216,988.05
Hospitals	23,159.88
Administration Costs	69,375.36
Old Age Pensions	9,471.52
Blind Pensions	82.08
Mother's Allowance	6,942.75
Child Welfare	616.37
Direct Relief	9,884.47
Medical Relief	17,856.26
Interest on Agricultural Advances	10,743.78
Charitable and Hospital Bills	5,599.80
Road Maintenance Cash	14,503.39
Road Maintenance Applied on Taxes	12,902.71
Road Maintenance Applied on Relief	545.79
Pest and Weeds	675.97
Bridges	5,561.20
Land Titles Office Fees	1,720.00
Miscellaneous Costs	1,972.56
Purchase of Equipment	17,356.30
Maintenance of Equipment	8,236.19
International Business Machine Costs	3,736.75
Payment of Old School District Liabilities	16,000.00
Interest on Provincial Treasurer Temporary Loan (Repaid)	280.30
Repayment of Amount Owing to Municipal Affairs Hospital Requisition Account	39,366.24
Repayment of Debentures of former School Districts in the Special Areas	510.25
General Areas
Construction of Dams	230.80
Community Pastures	5,800.07
Grass Seed	1,764.60
Hay Meadows	60.80
Miscellaneous	416.73
Total Payments		8,073.00
		$555,680.04
		$350,175.42
Cash Balance
Special Districts Trust Account	$295,430.19
Special Areas Trust Account	34,737.33
		$330,175.42

Unpaid 1940-1941 Bills.
Balance Rosenheim 1940 School Requisition	956.08
Paid in April, 1941
Balance Rosenheim 1940 Hospital Requisition	1,977.08
Paid in April, 1941
Provincial Mental Hospital	180.00
Provincial Training School	360.00
Interest on Implemented Loans	2,097.81
Haans Municipal Hospital Loans	7,938.25
Interest on Direct Loans	3,502.74
Interest on Agricultural Advances	24,285.17
1940 Levies
General Tax	$284,687.21
Social Service Tax	37,447.11
Total Levy	$322,134.32

J. HARVEY,
Deputy Minister,
Department of Lands and Mines.

$40,000 Blaze
Hits Craigmyle

Mr. and Mrs. Barros motor-ed to Drumheller on Sunday. Mr. Barros returned but Mrs. Barros will remain for a time with her daughter, Mrs. Bangs who is ill.

Dr. R. W. Hensby
Director, Agricultural Research
North-West Line Elevators Association

Erosion Again

CRAIGMLE, Jan. 14 - The week-old Delia fire was duplicated here early this morning when a disastrous fire swept by a strong wind razed five buildings in the business section, with an estimated loss of $40,000.

Buildings burned included a barber shop, Rubin's general store, Fasham's pharmacy, the Empire hotel, and the large brick Royal Bank building. Only two buildings remain on this block of Main street.

Families living on the premises escaped in their night clothes. The Rubin and Eastham families lost all their personal belongings.

Fire fighters battled the blaze for four hours, until 7 a.m., preventing it from reaching other blocks of stores and residences cause of the fire is unknown though it is reported to have started in the barber shop. A volunteer bucket brigade helped battle the flames.

Buildings surveyed the district and collected soil samples from the "white" eroded patches and from adjacent dark areas at a distance of one-half mile from the fields. The results of laboratory analyses showed that the eroded areas had an average of 45 percent less organic matter and 40 percent less nitrogen than samples from apparently undamaged areas. Samples of the crops were also taken, and it was found that those growing on eroded soil contained 25 percent less nitrogen than those on uneroded soil and, of course, the yields would be substantially reduced.

The results of Dr. Hensby's experiments are shown in the same area and excellent color photograph of a field of summerfallow which is practically ruined by erosion.

The results of Dr. Hensby's experiments are shown in the same area and excellent color photograph, reproduced in a circular just published by the Agricultural Department of the Line Elevators' Association. Circular may be obtained from grain buyers of line elevator companies associated with this Department or from The North-West Line Elevators Association, Winnipeg or Calgary.

BRAVE MEN
SHALL NOT DIE
BECAUSE I FALTERED

On this the dawn of a new year, let us solemnly pledge to make a daily and useful contribution to the cause for which we fight! And that effort, once undertaken, resolve to drive it home with all the power and vigor possible . . . LET NO BRAVE MAN DIE BECAUSE YOU FALTERED

DOUBLE YOUR INVESTMENT IN WAR SAVINGS
CERTIFICATES

SPACE DONATED BY THE BREWING INDUSTRY OF ALBERTA

Chinook Hotel

Try Our Meals

GOOD ROOMS

W.H. Barros

Prop.